Interesting slides:

We already have people wearing smart glasses and living in the meta-verse. As cool as it may sound, it's still in its early stages of development. But AI like this is constantly evolving, so we might prefer to live in the metaverse soon.

NUKES

So technically, if handled accordingly, strictly regulated, and locked away in government facilities; Super AI should be okay. But not really. Because the chances are never zero, and that's just AI folks.
